Licencing Selection Results

The second round of selection for the 2011/12 red sea urchin area licencing process is complete. Two round 2 area selection forms were submitted to the department prior to the May 24, 2011 deadline. One of the forms submitted prior to the deadline selected the south coast licence area. An additional 51 licences were placed in the south coast licence area by default. These were licences that were eligible for the south coast in the last season, and did not submit a new selection form for the 2011/12 season or that chose the south coast in round 1 but did not send in a round 2 form. After the second round, a total of 52 licences are designated to the south coast licence area. 58 licence tabs are designated to the north coast licence area. The final quotas for the 2011/12 season are not yet finalized. With the present licence distribution the south coast individual quota will equal approximately 30,827 lb. The north coast individual quota will equal approximately 145,052 lb.

The following is a list of the licence tabs currently designated to the south coast licence area.
